Hundreds of students seeking free bus pass observe

College Bandh

Mysuru, July 21 (MTY&DM)- Over a thousand students from different PU and Degree Colleges staged a massive demonstration in the city this morning, seeking free bus passes to all school and college students.

The stir was in response to a State-wide school and college bandh call given by Students' Federation of India (SFI), All India Democratic Students Organisation (AIDSO), All India Democratic Youth Organisation (AIDYO) and All India Mahila Samskrutika Sanghatane (AIMSS).

Students from Maharani's, Maharaja's, Marimallappa and other colleges, who converged near Ramaswamy Circle after bunking classes, sat on a dharna, blocking the Geetha Road leading from the Circle to Hotel Airlines for over two hours.

Accusing the JD(S)-Congress coalition government of backtracking on a promise made in the previous budget, the protestors raised slogans against the government for not issuing free bus passes for all categories of students as promised in the then CM Siddharamaiah's budget presented in Feb. 2018.

Arguing that while the previous Congress government had made an announcement in the budget to provide free bus passes to students of all communities and that the present JD(S)-Congress coalition government was now backtracking on the promise, the students maintained that the CM and some Ministers in the new government were passing the buck over the issue, which has led to confusion among the student community.

Alleging that elected representatives from the ruling dispensation were not raising their voice against this injustice to the students, the protestors threatened to intensify the agitation if their demand was not met.

Even as the students blocked the busy Geetha Road causing traffic disruption, the Police had a tough time in diverting traffic.

However, the protest passed off peacefully, with no untoward incidents. Police had provided tight security.

P.S. Sandhya and G.S. Seema of AIMSS, Basavaraju, H.M. Chandrakala, Akash Kumar, Ashiya Begum of AIDSO, B.R. Sunil, Suma, Kalavathi, Avinash and others led the demo.

Pride and Prejudice

The caption of today's column owes it to the renowned British novelist Jane Austen (1775-1817), best known for her social commentary in novels including Sense and Sensibility and Pride and Prejudice. About her own work, in a veiled self-praise, the author has been quoted saying, "The person, be it gentleman or lady, who has not pleasure in a good novel, must be intolerably stupid". The context of invoking the lady novelist and the title to her time-honoured literary work needs to be made clear to allay doubts about the relevance to the present ethos of the land's people at large about their country, both past and present. Those who display boundless pride about the land's glorious past on a multitude of counts as recorded in its history may yet be a majority of the country's population, literati and the unlettered. Their proportion in the total headcount, unarguably, is declining in our times. Those who have no qualms in expressing their prejudice towards everything Indian seem to be outnumbering the rest of the diaspora. The point to ponder is what needs to be done to cement pride and facilitate overcoming prejudice.

Psychologists have to tell us if it is right to connect pride with liking and prejudice with hatred. The benefits to oneself choosing to like others irrespective of their profile and the stressful consequences of hating others, for whatever reason, should be the guiding factor in wisely favouring pride over prejudice.

Pride about the country seems to be what experiences in daily life during interaction with fellow citizens. Thanks to the often referred British colonisation of India marked by the divide-and-rule policy of governance, the diversity of languages spoken by the country's people, their cultural practises, ethnicity differences and many other divisive factors have not only continued as a legacy bequeathed to India's later generations but also have got aggravated due to well-marked Constitutional provisions of classifying the people of the country on the basis of their faiths, castes and creeds, which could have been avoided with vision on the country's future under self-rule.

Without questioning the intent of the Constitution's script-writers to create an inclusive society, one is prompted to remark that the nation's some sections were part of an exclusive society, the prime reason for stoking prejudice towards both the country and towards each other. It takes a great deal of courage and conviction to undo the past acts hoping for reining in prejudice and sustaining pride for the country.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

The big jump in Minimum Support Prices (MSPs) for kharif crops announced by the Modi government is its biggest economic blunder. It gives farmers a fixed margin of 50% over their input costs and imputed labour cost, ignoring demand, supply and international competitiveness. This makes no economic sense for any activity, let alone farming. Modi seeks to solve a problem of agricultural over-production with incentives that will worsen over-production. Higher food prices will worsen inflation. The RBI will seek to curb this by raising interest rates, hurting industry and exports. This may help Modi win the next election, but will dent India's long-term GDP growth and prosperity. Farmers should be treated as producers with internationally competitive potential, not as objects of charity. — Swaminathan S. Anklesaria Aiyar in The New Sunday Express

Cocktail made with tarantula venom

Mexico: Aragog is an unusual cocktail made with a drop of tarantula venom, which numbs the tongue, tickles your lips and causes a sensation "between tingling and cramping" in the throat.

Named in honor of the giant spider from the Harry Potter books, Aragog was created two years ago, by Romeo Palomares, chief mixologist at the Luciferina Bar, in Mexico City, after being challenged by his boss to come up with a cocktail that would impress patrons. The popular Day of the Dead was approaching, and the famous witchcraft market of Sonora was in full swing, so he decided that it was the best place to look for a special ingredient.

The Mexican mixologist usually spent two hours creating a new cocktail, but this one took him a total of five days to get just right. He spent so much time combining different ingredients with the tarantula venom and tasting the result that at one point he had to visit the hospital because his throat had become completely numb. But Palomares managed to get the cocktail just right in the end.

Family claims possessed doll terrorising them

Callao: Nunez family, in Callao, Peru, claims that they have witnessed various paranormal events connected to "Sarita," a blonde, blue-eyed doll that they received seven years ago. Mother-of-three, Ivonne Nunez said that it was a gift from a niece that has since died, and even though strange things started happening soon after the girl passed away.

The Nunez family claims that they put Sarita in her corner before going to sleep, but sometimes find her on the table, or the couch, and their three children often wake up with scratches and bruises on their bodies.

After inspecting the doll, an angelologist said that she felt an evil entity that aims to harm the family.

Raja Marga, an ill-conceived project: We don't protest where it is needed

Sir,

This refers to the report "Raja Marga in a shambles" (SOM dated July 9). Raja Marga was a very ill-conceived project. The laying of interlocking concrete tiles to cover all the footpaths was another similar misadventure. Both have cost a huge outflow of public funds without any returns commensurate with the expenditure entailed. Such projects will continue to prosper because these lead to the prosperity of a few persons dealing with this work.

The problem lies with the mentality of our people. We are least concerned when we see large scale looting of public money taking place right in front of our eyes. Our priorities are different. We don't think as a community.

About thirty years ago, a Swiss tourist had come to my shop to buy something for his motor cycle. I gave him the item he needed. The previous day, our government had increased the price of petrol by Rs. 2. After making his purchase, he asked me in his broken English: "Your government increased the price of petrol yesterday. Don't you demand justification from it. In my country, if the price of bread is increased by one cent, we demand justification from the government." Then I had thought that this is why they are what they are, and we will be, forever, what we have been.

People like Bhamy V. Shenoy have been trying to drive some sense into our heads for the past three decades to no avail. When we go to pay property tax, we are outraged when we are told that it has gone up by x% as compared to the previous year. We don't realise that this is happening because of our inability to organise ourselves and protest effectively when we see loot taking place. It is our apathy which is leading to this situation.

We are willing to congregate in thousands if we are told that by doing so, our caste will get reservation in education and government jobs (Jats in Haryana, Gujjars in Rajasthan, Patidars in Gujarat, Lingayat/Veerashaiva in our State).

We will do so if we are told that our religious cult figure has been insulted. But, we will never come out on to the streets to protest against the loot of public money (our money). It doesn't concern my caste. So, why bother?

No Trust Motion defeated in LS

Modi Government gets 325 votes and Opposition 126

New Delhi, July 21 (UNI)- After a raging 12-hour debate yesterday, the Narendra Modi-led NDA government defeated the No-Confidence Motion in the Lok Sabha by 199 votes. While 126 members supported the motion, 325 MPs rejected it. This was the first No Trust Motion against the Modi Government which came to power in 2014.

The day-long session in the Lower House saw the government and the Opposition trade charges and a moment of drama when Congress President Rahul Gandhi, after a blistering speech, walk over to Prime Minister and embrace him in a hug. He walked over to his seat and winked at one of his colleagues.

Rahul's antics prompted Speaker Sumitra Mahajan to reprimand him for his "drama" and said everyone must maintain decorum in Parliament. Sumitra said she was not opposed to Rahul hugging any individual but everyone has to maintain decorum in Parliament.

"We have to maintain decorum as an MP. Outsiders cannot maintain decorum. I want that everyone should live in harmony. No one is my enemy, Rahul is like my son," she said.

Without mentioning anyone's name, the Speaker said she did not like the hug as "he (Modi) is the Prime Minister". "There is decorum for every Parliamentarian. I am also a mother. At that time he was the Prime Minister. We should maintain the decorum of the House. I thought what drama was happening," she said.

> "I invite all Opposition leaders to bring another No Trust Motion against my government in 2024."
> — Narendra Modi, Prime Minister

Cong indulging in negative politics

Terming the No Trust Vote against his government a result of the Opposition's "arrogance", Modi called on all parties to dismiss the move and accused the Congress of working with the mindset of 'Modi Hatao' (remove Modi).

Responding to the debate on the motion, he said some people are indulging in "negative politics." He also took a dig at Rahul Gandhi for asking him to stand up for a hug after walking across to his chair in the Lok Sabha, saying the Congress President appeared to be in a hurry to occupy his seat.

Terming the faith of the electorate as the real test of a government, Modi said, "I cannot be removed except by the 125 crore people of India. Why this hurry to remove me. In democracy, we should remain patient."

He said it is not the floor test of the government but that of the Congress. "Our thinking is different from the Opposition's. This is not a floor test of the Government. It's a floor test of Congress and its allies. This is a trial run for them to choose a PM face," the Prime Minister said.

Modi targeted Rahul Gandhi and his mother Sonia Gandhi and charged that the Congress party has always been involved in destabilising non-Congress governments. In this context, Prime Minister said in 1999 Sonia Gandhi had said that she had 272 members which later turned out to be only a false claim.

Childish remarks

The PM said Rahul's remarks against Armed Forces by dismissing the surgical strike against Pakistan as 'Jumla strike' was unbecoming of a remark of a public leader. Using the Hindi phrase 'bachpana (childish)', Prime Minister said Congress President's remarks that French President Emmanuel Macron informed him about "no secrecy" treaty on Rafael deal was also not correct.

"The gravity of the situation ought to be understood that governments in two nations had to issue statements discounting his statement," Modi said amid frequent objections and ruckus from Opposition members. "I pray that such childish statements are not repeated," he said.

Displaying his vintage touch against the Congress and especially its President, the PM waxed eloquently and said: "As a poor mother's son, how can I see eye to eye to someone like you."

Eye to eye

"And those who talk about seeing eye to eye...was today found winking in the House," Modi said repeatedly making gestures. Prime Minister also said the manner in which Rahul Gandhi had crossed over to the treasury bench and gestured him (PM) to be up on his feet only displayed "ahankar (arrogance)" of an unprecedented scale.

"How a Kaamdaar can put eye in eye in the Naamdaar? Look at the fate met by those who did so. "What did the Congress do with the leaders who tried to put 'eye to eye' with the top leadership be it Subhash Chandra Bose, Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel, Jaiprakash Narayan, Chandrashekhar or Pranab Mukherjee."

"I invite all Opposition leaders to bring another No Trust Motion against my government in 2024," Prime Minister said wrapping up his over one-and-a-half-an-hour speech.

Yesterday's No Confidence Motion, the 27th in Parliamentary history, was the first to be admitted in 15 years. The last was in 2003 when the Congress party moved a No Confidence motion against Prime Minister Atal Bihari Vajpayee.

CM offers 'bagina' to Cauvery at KRS

Kumaraswamy appeals farmers to give him one year to prove commitment to farming community

Mysuru, July 21 (RK&BCT)- Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy, accompanied by his wife Anitha Kumaraswamy, Water Resources Minister D.K. Shivakumar, Tourism Minister S.R. Mahesh, Higher Education Minister G.T. Devegowda, Minor Irrigation Minister C.S. Puttaraju and Transport Minister D.C. Thammanna, offered 'bagina' at the Krishna Raja Sagar (KRS) Dam last evening.

It was his third 'bagina' at KRS after he performed the same rituals at Harangi and Kabini Dams. He said that bountiful rain had brought relief to the people of Karnataka and Tamil Nadu, and described the current situation as "nature's solution" to the problems faced by the two States over sharing of waters.

The four major dams in the Cauvery basin, including KRS, have reached their full-reservoir level after eight years, bringing much-needed delight to farmers and residents.

After offering 'bagina' at Kabini yesterday afternoon following his special puja to Goddess Chamundeshwari atop Chamundi Hill in Mysuru on the occasion of first Ashada Friday, the CM's chopper landed on KRS helipad at 4 pm almost three hours late. He immediately offered 'bagina' and participated in traditional rituals.

This is the second time that Kumaraswamy offered offering Bagina to Cauvery at the KRS. The first time was on July 20 in 2007 when he was the Chief Minister of the then BJP-JD(S) government. Also, he is the 15th Chief Minister to offer 'bagina'.

The tradition of offering 'bagina' was set by R. Gundu Rao who was the CM in 1983 and it was followed by other Chief Ministers. Even former CM Siddharamaiah had offered 'bagina' in 2014 when the Dam reached its full capacity. Interestingly, only Ramakrishna Hegde did not offer 'bagina'.

After performing the rituals, Kumaraswamy appealed to farmers to give his government a year's time to prove its commitment to the farming community. He claimed the waiving of farm loans was not an easy task since Rs. 14,000 crore was earmarked as salary to government employees following a rise of 30% in the Sixth Pay Commission.

"There was pressure from MLAs to waive loans completely," he said. "The Siddharamaiah government had announced a waiver of Rs. 8,165 crore. There is a pending amount of Rs. 4,000 crore which we have to clear this year. This year, cooperative banks claim they have given Rs. 10,734 crore in fresh loans of which I have promised to clear Rs. 9,500 crore. I need more time to bring in programmes," he said.

CM also said that by developing Brindavan Gardens on the lines of Disneyland in the US, there will be employment to around 25,000 youths from Mandya, Mysuru and surrounding districts.

Folk troupes presented cultural show at KRS and many were seen taking selfies.

MLAs Ravindra Sreekantaiah, K.C. Narayanagowda, M. Srinivas, Dr. K. Annadani, Ashwin Kumar, K. Mahadev, MLCs Marithibbegowda, K.T. Srikantegowda and Appaji Gowda, Cauvery Neeravari Nigam Limited MD H.L. Prasanna, Principal Secretary, Water Resources, Rakesh Singh, Cauvery Neeravari Nigam Chief Engineer T.P. Thrayambaka, Superintending Engineer K.R. Amarnath, Executive Engineer K. Basavarajegowda and others were present.

Pothole deaths scary, says Supreme Court

New Delhi, July 21- The Supreme Court on Friday described as "frightening" the deaths in accidents caused due to potholes on roads across the country and said that number of fatalities in such incidents was more than those in terror attacks.

A Bench of Justices Madan B. Lokur and Deepak Gupta said that persons who have lost their lives as a result of accidents caused due to potholes should be entitled to compensation.

Hearing a PIL filed by S. Rajseekaran on road safety, the Bench said it was a matter of "common knowledge" that a large number of people have died in accidents caused due to potholes on roads, and authorities, who were supposed to maintain the roads, were not doing their duties properly.

"So many people are dying in the country due to accident caused by potholes on roads. Reports say that more people have died due to accident caused by potholes than the deaths in terrorists attacks," the Bench said.

DEATH TRAP?: The busy KRS Road from Mysuru city side has become a nightmare for thousands of motorists, who travel towards the KRS Dam to witness the water release. Accidents on this busy stretch are a regular feature, thanks to innumerable potholes and huge craters. Picture shows one such crater bang opposite the yet-to-be-operational Sri Jayadeva Institute of Cardiovascular Sciences and Research, which was inaugurated by the then CM Siddharamaiah in March 2018.

The Court asked the Supreme Court Committee on Road Safety, headed by former SC Judge Justice K.S. Radhakrishnan, to look into this "very serious issue."

Poisoning could be from within Shiroor Mutt: Pejawar Seer

State government orders high-level probe

Udupi, July 21- Even as the Police are investigating the mysterious death of Lakshmivara Theertha Swamiji of Shiroor Mutt, senior pontiff Pejawar Swamiji said the truth would come out after a proper investigation.

Sri Vishwesha Theertha Swamiji of Pejawar Adhokshaja Mutt ruled out the role of other Seers and said, "It is not possible for people from other Mutts to offer him food. In case he was poisoned, it could be from someone within the Shiroor Mutt itself. Many of the Seers had not maintained contact with Shiroor Seer," he said.

"I was not in town for the past few days, so I do not know whether Lakshmivara Theertha Swami died because of poisoning or food poisoning. However, we had information that he was in the habit of excessive drinking, which might have damaged his kidney and liver. He was also attracted to women and there are rumours that he had a fight with a woman. There have been instances when students have complained that the Seer stinks of alcohol. This is not how a Seer should lead his life. I had warned him on several occasions," Pejawar Seer said.

He said they had refused to consider him a pontiff after he talked about him having a son and so the presiding deity of Shiroor Mutt was not returned to him.

High-level probe: Deputy Chief Minister

The State government has ordered a high-level probe into the mysterious death of Shiroor Mutt Seer. Deputy Chief Minister and Home Minister Dr. G. Parameshwara told reporters yesterday that senior Police officers are investigating the case.

He said that help of experts, including those from Central government agencies, will be used to take the case to a logical end.

Successor only after Sept. 29

Vishwavallabha Tirtha Swami of Sode Mutt said that a new Seer to head Shiroor Mutt would be appointed only after Sept. 29. Now, Sode Mutt has taken over management of affairs at Shiroor Mutt as it is the Dwandwa Mutt (twin mutt).

The Sode Seer, Vishwavallabha Tirtha Swami, said he has appointed a five-member committee for the maintenance of the immovable and movable properties of Shiroor Mutt. An inventory of items is being drawn up.

The Seer said that since it was the month of 'Ashada' and it would be followed by the 'Chaturmasya' period, appointments were not possible now.

JD(S) Thanksgiving Rally: Minor traffic snarls in Mandya

A large number of people waiting for CM at the thanksgiving rally which was held at Sir MV District Stadium in Mandya yesterday.

Mandya, July 21- The seven-hour ban on movement of traffic on the Mysuru-Bengaluru highway owing to JD(S) thanksgiving rally addressed by CM H.D. Kumaraswamy in Mandya yesterday had minor effects on the busy road. However, there was no major traffic jams as expected earlier.

JD(S) had organised the programme at Sir MV District Stadium in Mandya to thank voters for electing its candidates from all seven Assembly segments in the district. Over one lakh people turned up for the event.

The Mandya District Administration had banned traffic between Maddur and Srirangapatna and had diverted many vehicles. The ban was from 2 pm to 9 pm. As the CM arrived at 7 pm, the Police had thrown open the road and had not imposed any restrictions till 6.30 pm.

However, during the rally, some traffic jams were witnessed and chaos prevailed on the main road that links Mysuru and Bengaluru. All private vehicles and KSRTC buses were diverted via Malavalli.

Bus drivers and taxi operators said they took an hour more to reach their destination due to diversion and slow-moving traffic. There were no traffic jams after the rally concluded.

Hug + Wink = HOODWINK

After Wimbledon, Cricket and Football World Cup, we thought we had enough of watching TV, but then Telugu Desam Party (TDP) moved a No Confidence Motion against the BJP government and it was time to watch TV again. And yesterday from 11 am to 11 pm, we had a political drama unfold on TV. Sadly, a political drama that served no purpose for the citizens.

The TDP thought the Congress agreed to support their motion to help Andhra Pradesh but the Congress hijacked their plans and turned the No Confidence Motion to "have confidence in Rahul" motion.

After Rahul Gandhi's speech, Congress MP Shashi Tharoor tweeted "an astonishing performance, tearing apart the Govt's claims & ending with that unscripted hug that has literally taken the BJP's breath away #BhukampAaGaya."

Yes, the MP known for his rich cache of English vocabulary was so astonished by Rahul's speech that he could not find any words in English to describe it and was compelled to use a Hindi phrase Bhukamp Aa Gaya (there is an earthquake).

Well, when there is an earthquake everything and everyone shakes, but no one shook, except the Prime Minister who thought Rahul was asking him to get up from his seat.

In fact, many thought Rahul Gandhi was asking the Prime Minster to get up from his seat as he felt Modi did not deserve to be the PM. One cannot be faulted for presuming this considering Rahul did this just after tearing into the Prime Minister while moving a No Confidence Motion.

Now, by giving the Prime Minister a hug, the Congress President was trying to say that unlike BJP who mock him and spread hate, Congress believes in loving and respecting even its opponents. But some of us feared that since both men like one-upmanship, things could get out of hand. How?

While Rahul was trying show he is a man of love with his jappi (hug), we thought the PM would try to outdo him by giving him a pappi (kiss). We thought that a pappi was coming when the PM called Rahul back after the awkward hug, but alas it did not happen. But if it had, it would be so much fun. Why?

Well, because some crazy right wing man may have filed a PIL against the two men for involving in an unnatural act. Then we are sure the BJP would say Rahul Gandhi forced himself and his jappi on the PM and the PM shot a pappi in self-defence !

Jokes apart, while many felt that it was nice of Rahul to hug the PM sending a message of love and respect towards an adversary, his wink after the act ruined his chances of walking away on a high note.

The wink indicated that the hug was not a spontaneous act of affection and respect but a well-calculated political move to create a perception that Rahul was all about love and respect while Modi was not.

The wink also proved that the hug was meaningless and insincere. This reminds us of what one author wrote about BJP and Congress parties' attitude towards minorities — "What the BJP does in the light of day, Congress does in the dark of night." It means BJP openly uses religion for politics while Congress hoodwinks minorities. May be, the sad state of minorities after decades of Congress rule proves this hollow love.

Rahul Gandhi's embrace and wink may have left many in the Congress embarrassed, but they should know by now that their President has an inclination for theatrics.

Remember in 2013 when Ajay Maken, then Spokesperson of Congress was sitting at a press conference defending a Congress-initiated Ordinance, Rahul Gandhi walked in, took over the press conference and said "My opinion is that the Ordinance is nonsense, should be torn up and thrown out."

He then dramatically added, "I will repeat it for you, my personal opinion about the Ordinance is that it is complete nonsense, it should be torn and thrown away." And then he left, leaving behind a room full of confused media persons and a spooked Congress Spokesperson.

This is not the first time that Rahul has abruptly jumped into an issue. We remember, when the whole nation came alive in support of the Lokpal agitation, Rahul was nowhere to be seen. Then suddenly he appeared in Parliament and spoke about making Lokpal a Constitutional body. It was too late and didn't have the desired effect.

We also remember how he dramatically tore up a sheet of paper to drive home the point that BSP in UP was not keeping its promises at a public rally. Today the same party is his ally.

Rahul's speech yesterday though had factual errors was well-received until he showed his 'bachpana' (immature behaviour) with a hug and wink as PM pointed out. One needs to be serious when you are planning to bring down a government you have no confidence in.

Today India needs a powerful opposition leader who can counter Modi in terms of oration and confidence. A credible opposition is the need of the hour in India as BJP wins State after State.

A credible opposition is necessary for a healthy democracy as it is the opposition which is the watchdog — Catch them when they lie and bite them when they steal.

Unfortunately, our Opposition Party, the Congress is led by a man who neither has the bark nor the bite. It is unfortunate that he squanders every opportunity he gets. It makes us wish Priyanka Gandhi steps in. We bet Congress men are wishing the same.

Think-Tank

Who does not want to own a house that is a landmark in an area? And to make the house a landmark, people go to any extent. While some people construct palatial bungalows, others go for unique concrete water tanks atop their houses and paint them with flashy colours so that people can easily identify their house. While Punjab has many such houses, Mysuru too is catching up on the trend. From aeroplane to Maruti car, capsule and submarine — the city has a wide variety of water tanks built atop houses. These jazzed-up water tanks while being niche are also a symbol of social status as you can see in this Weekend Star Supplement.

How water tanks took shape of boats, planes & cars

By S. Kenneth Shishir

Today, most water tanks atop houses are made from synthetic plastics with high-embodied energy. And most of the plastic is wasted during production and it is not biodegradable too. Also, these tanks cannot be cleaned easily and they heat up water on a hot summer afternoon just when someone yearns for cool water. Compared to plastic, many prefer traditional concrete tanks and a few go a step ahead to design these tanks in an aesthetic way like aeroplane, bus, ship and even train engine. These are not mere concrete structures to store water, but more of creative figures with emotional values attached to them.

While having designer tanks atop homes are common in Punjab where people often put up water tanks or models in the shape of football, religious symbols, vehicles, etc., to reflect their beliefs, wealth, interest, profession and identity, Mysuru too is catching up with some of the homes having such designer tanks. It's quite a niche thing to commission and one is making quite a statement having these larger-than-life sculptures atop their houses. These water tanks are also a symbol of social status. The interesting part is that those who get them built don't mind spending lavishly on them. Even if they burn a hole in the pocket, still it is okay as they add to the family prestige too.

Dump Truck Tank at BEML, Belawadi

Bharat Earth Movers Limited (BEML), a Public Sector Undertaking, with headquarters in Bengaluru, manufactures a variety of heavy equipment used for earth moving, transport and mining. BEML is Asia's second-largest manufacturer of earth moving equipment and it controls 70% of India's market in that sector.

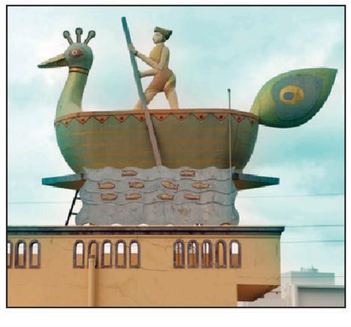
BEML has manufacturing plants in Kolar Gold Fields (KGF), Bengaluru, Palakkad in Kerala and Mysuru. The Mysuru facility at Belawadi makes dump trucks and engines of various capacities. And as if to symbolise the manufacturing of dump trucks, the water tank at BEML has been designed like the vehicle. The tank was built in 1986 and has been a landmark ever since.

Kumbha Kalasha Tank at Nazarbad

Subbanna, one of the Trustees of the Nimbujadevi Temple at Nazarbad said that the water tank in the shape of 'Kumbha Kalasha' was built 12 years ago. "We thought that the Kalasha-shaped tank would suit best as it was to be constructed atop the building of a temple. Also, Kalasha is auspicious and having it atop a temple sends positive signals around," he says.

Boat Tank at K.C. Layout

The boat water tank has been constructed on the roof of the house of Ramegowda, a civil contractor. It was constructed in 2013 and according to Ramegowda, he had been to Kashmir where he saw house boats there and wanted to bring a replica of it to Mysuru. Though he searched for a model of the boat to keep it as a memory of his Kashmir visit, he could not find one and hence constructed a boat using his own imagination as a water tank atop his house.



Kalasha Tank on Basaweshwara Road

This tank was built in 2012 by Rajashekar Murthy, a Shirasthedhar at Senior Civil Judge Court at H.D. Kote, Murthy had thought of constructing a unique water tank atop his house on Basaweshwara Road. He said that though he had many designs for the water tank, he chose Kalasha as it is a good omen. He said that the seeing a Kalasha in the morning would bring in good thoughts and inspires good work. "I wanted everyone living in the vicinity of my house to prosper and hence I constructed the Kalasha tank for the welfare of all," he says.

Maruti 800 Car Tank at J.P. Nagar

The tank in the shape of Maruti 800 car was built 20 years ago by Shivaswamy as he owned a Maruti car at that time. He said that he got the tank built in the shape of his first car and has also got the same registration number carved and painted on it. Though the car's paint has faded now, it stands out at J.P. Nagar.

Maruti 800 Car Tank at Alanahalli

Constructed in the year 1998 by H.P. Prabhuswamy, a retired Superintending Engineer at KPTCL. He said that he had a Maruti car that time and hence constructed the water tank in the shape of that car. Maruti was ruling the roost at 1998 and now of course there are many car brands that zoom on city roads. During the 90's Maruti was a status symbol too and this could have prompted Prabhuswamy to design a Maruti water tank.

Maruti 800 at Ramakrishnanagar

The owner of the house purchased this Maruti 800 when this vehicle was launched by Maruti. He also built this house in the same year. Hence, he constructed the water tank of the house both as a fancy and as a reminder of his owning the car.

Airavata Bus Tank at Giridharshini Layout

Mysuru, July 21(DM)- In an early morning operation, officials from the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) sealed a hotel located in Maharajas Complex opposite the KSRTC Sub-Urban Bus Stand, for not complying with MCC notice that had asked the hotel owner not to block the drainage by dumping waste.

Following complaints from the public that stinky drainage water was continuously spilling onto the streets due to the blockage of the drain, the MCC had issued a notice to the hotel owner several days ago. But the hotel owner ignored the notice and continued with his old practice of dumping hotel waste into the drainage.

However, the authorities said that the seal will be opened if the hotel owner ensures free passage of water in the drain.

Lack of facilities at Pre-matric Boys Hostel

Students made to suffer

There are 39 inmates in this hostel, run by the SC/ST Welfare Department, with most of them tribals from Hunsur and Periyapatna constituencies.

Although there are 39 registered students in the Hostel, only 12 to 15 of them stay there, as the students are provided insufficient food. Some students have complained that the Hostel authorities have failed to comply with online registration rule by falsely citing power outage.

The students also allege that the Hostel cook diverts the food articles meant for the Hostel, to his home, which has resulted in students not getting stipulated quantity of food. The food served is also of poor quality and the Hostel, which is housed in a private building, is getting dilapidated with each passing day.

Apart from all these problems, the Hostel inmates are leading an insecure life, with no security and rampant mosquito menace.

Up close with Somdev

By V. Shourabh

India, in spite of being a populous country, still strives to make a mark in the global sports. One such reason could be the lack of proper awareness and education. But lately, the sporting sector is on the rise and is set to sky rocket in the next couple of years. Sports and fitness have become an integral part of human life. Who doesn't love sports? It can be recreational sports or a professional sport. But every individual has been inclined to sports at some or the other point during the course of his life. With the recent surge in IPL, ISL, Kabaddi League and other forms of sports, India is taking the development of sports to the next level.

International Tennis Player Somdev Devvarman has a vision in his mind to promote sports in India and motivate the masses to choose sports to stay healthy. Star of Mysore got up close with him as he opines on the importance of sporting culture and sporting philosophy in India. The Brand Ambassador of CS&MS Sports Management Programme conducted jointly by Shri Dharmasthala Manjunatheswara Institute for Management Development (SDMIMD) and Centre for sports & Management Studies (CS&MS), Somdev was at SDM-IMD to present certificates to the first batch of PG Programme in Sports Management (PGPSM) 2017-18 yesterday.

Somdev said, "Sporting ecosystem needs to improve in India at every single level right from the grassroots. There should be proper guidance and courses to educate and give direction to the passionate people who are eager to do good in sport. Here comes to importance of sports management; which caters to various aspects like sports marketing, talent management, event management, Operations management, etc. So it is very important that the current generation needs a lot of sports managers to cater to the sport development. People need to be made aware that opportunity exists in sports and through this we can tap the hidden potential in India. The main motive is to spread the sporting bug and expand the sporting ecosystem so that the people realise its essence. Sports is a passion play, and with proper guidance and management, the sporting philosophy will head in the right direction. Thus sports management is very vital in achieving this goal. We need to get people of their couches and get them playing the sport. So promotion of sports and sports management is very much important."

Somdev Devvarman

"Sports management definitely plays a key role in the performance of the player too. Their key role is to provide the player the perfect care and platform to perform at his/her optimal best. Even in the recent FIFA World Cup, each team had several management departments — the travel and stay managers, Venue staff, Mentors, Physios, Rehab staff, Public Relations Officers, Strategist, Goalkeeping coach, Defending Coach, attacking coach etc. Several people form the management core to ensure that the players are managed in the right direction. This is lacking in India as many players are mismanaged, not just by the sports managers, but also the members of their family as they have never experienced the essence of sports. Thus there is a huge need for a systematic management approach in the Indian sports which needs to bring in the sporting culture and philosophy," said Somdev.

He also narrated a quote from the 'Cool Runnings' Movie — "If you are not enough without it, you'll never be enough with it." Emphasising on the need for hard work, he adds, "The process is the key. Give your best, do your job and be detached. Winning is a by-product. Ensure you do the process correctly."

After seven rounds, Andhra Pradesh's K.A. Meenakshi emerged as the sole leader with seven points from seven rounds. A. Anjana (TN), Bhavya Joshi (MP) and Lakshana Subramanian (TN) are placed from third to fifth in the rankings with six points each.

Minister assures Life Insurance for Journalists

Higher Education Minister G.T. Devegowda is seen watering a sapling to mark the inauguration of MDJA Annual Award Ceremony in city yesterday as others look on.

Mysuru, July 21 (PM&DM)- Underlining the role of Media in correcting the wrongs of the society, Higher Education Minister G.T. Devegowda has said that he will make honest efforts to ensure that journalists are covered by life insurance. He was speaking after presenting annual awards for journalists and photographers at an event organised by Mysuru District Journalists Association (MDJA) at Rajendra Kalamandira on Ramanuja Road yesterday.

Referring to an appeal made by former President of Karnataka Pradesh Hotel & Restaurants Association President M. Rajendra that journalists be covered by life insurance as they are often exposed to risk, Devegowda said that he would discuss the issue with the Chief Minister.

Responding to an appeal by MDJA that 'Patrika Bhavans' be built at all taluk headquarters, the Minister said that he would seriously look into the demand.

Pointing out that the Fourth Estate has the power to correct the flaws in the Executive, Judiciary and the Legislature, he said that those working in the Media have enormous responsibility of correcting the society, whenever it went wrong.

Noting that Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy who was to participate as the Chief Guest could not attend the function as his (HDK) arrival in the city was delayed for a couple of hours due to incessant rains in Kodagu, G.T. Devegowda wished the scribes on Newspaper Day.

MLAA.H. Vishwanath said that the media should try to tell the true status of the fiscal situation of the State.

Highlighting the provisions made in the budget by the coalition government for various sectors, Vishwanath said that it was important for the media to present a true picture of the fiscal situation. Senior journalist Ravi Hegde in his keynote address, said that news channels should look at alternative ways for increasing their TRP ratings.

Expressing concern that the media is getting more and more commercialised and thus losing credibility, he bemoaned that the media was only after TRP ratings, while ignoring the real issues that are haunting the society.

Maintaining that getting advertisements was behind the craze for TRP ratings, he stressed on the need for the media to come out of such a mindset and look at alternative ways.

Pointing out that the media is considered as the fourth pillar of democracy, he regretted that the media is being often wrongly criticised these days. Observing that social media is being increasingly targeted for spreading false news and reports, Ravi Hegde called for better handling of social media, which is driven by Technology.

Noting that the first Kannada newspaper was probably published from Mysuru rather than the common perception that the first Kannada newspaper titled 'Mangaluru Samachara' was published from Mangaluru, Ravi Hegde opined that Mysuru was the 'Karmabhoomi' for most of the journalists. Bengaluru provided them a more challenging opportunity.

He also emphasised on the need for the growth of small newspapers, as they play a crucial role in reporting local issues in detail.

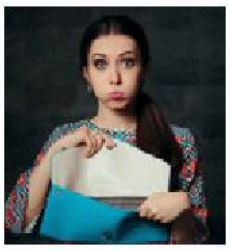
WORD OF THE DAY

Hoity-toity

Pronunciation: hoi-tee-toi-tee



Meaning: Assuming airs; pretentious; haughty. giddy; flighty.

Origin: The adjective hoity-toity now means "pretentious, haughty"; formerly it meant "frivolous, giddy." The phrase is probably an alteration and reduplication of hoit, an obsolete verb of obscure origin meaning "to romp, play the fool." Hoit may also be the source of or akin to hoyden "boisterous, carefree girl, tomboy," possibly a borrowing from Dutch heiden "rustic, uncivilized person." Hoity-toity entered English in the 17th century. Citations for hoity-toity: Always crowing about their kid with the straight A's at that hoity-toity school. Jeffrey Eugenides, Middlesex, 2002

The typeface used for the credits is the kind of hoity-toity cursive writing—in hot pink, no less—one might see on a Tiffany & Co. shower invitation. Laura Jacobs, "The Devil Inside: Watching Rosemary's Baby in the Age of #MeToo," Vanity Fair, Summer 2018.

THE ODD WORD

Hoddy-noddy

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Angry young man

Meaning: Often applied to the British 'kitchen sink' playwrights of the 1950s. Also anyone, particularly young men obviously, who rails against the establishment.

Origin: The term was applied most notably to playwright John Osborne and it was from comments about his Look Back in Anger, first performed in 1956, that the phrase became known.

However, that wasn't its first use. In 1941, the writer Rebecca West used it in her Black lamb and grey falcon: the record of a journey through Yugoslavia in 1937: "Their [the Dalmatians] instinct is to brace themselves against any central authority as if it were their enemy. The angry young men run about shouting." West wasn't using the phrase in the quite specific way it became used in the 1950s. She was just referring to young men who were angry. John Osborne's play Look Back in Anger was first performed in 1956. The term doesn't appear in the play but it was in the reporting of it later that it became known.

The persona of the angry young man, a role that Amitabh Bachchan would earmark as his very own, is commonly thought to have emerged in Hindi cinema in the first half of the 1970s, in films such as Zanjeer and Deewaar.

QUOTE BOX

A man who has never made a woman angry is a failure in life.

—Christopher Morley
